

Chance For President Is The Most Plagiarized Campaign Of All Time

Presidential Candidate Chance Trahan Discusses His Faith In God

WASHINGTON - Sept. 2, 2020 - PRLog -- Every Presidential Candidate in this Election cycle is fighting tooth and nail for a seat behind the desk of the Oval Office inside the White House. Joe Biden is plagiarizing, Donald Trump is following, and Jo Jorgensen is being a copy cat. And then there's Chance Trahan, the one leading the pack.

"I'm the most copied Presidential Candidate of all time. None of these fellow candidates have an original bone in their bodies. Donald Trump didn't mention Marxism til I did, Jo Jorgensen didn't care about Vaping rights until I made my support for it public, and Joe Biden is plagiarizing me every time I turn around," says Chance.

With the debates underway and close to closing, people are demanding that Donald Trump enter a debate with Chance Trahan, which is something Donald is extremely reluctant to do. Chance has his suspicions about why.

"Donald Trump won't debate me because he knows how big of a disaster that would be for his campaign. First off, I'm certain that he doesn't want me to start uttering Las Vegas Shooting on TV. He doesn't want to have to answer for that. Look, when he talks about the debates, all he thinks of are fantastic ratings. Well, imagine how great the ratings would be if I start speaking my mind about his failed policies. It would be the hottest debate of all time and everybody I know of would be tuning in. This is what the people have been waiting for, and he just won't give it to them because he's deathly afraid to smear his image. He shouldn't blame me for that, he should blame his choices. But, don't tell that to one of his supporters, they'll get flat out rude and indignant about it," Trahan mentions.

To add insult to injury, the mainstream media won't respect the equal time rule, no matter what channel or show is requested to air Chance Trahan. This is a clear case of Election Interference that the Federal Authorities aren't acting on. This isn't the only time the authorities haven't acted in order to protect Chance's rights or safety either.

"I've submitted reports against many people for a slew of things, but the authorities claim that no crimes were committed. They're either incompetent or negligent when it comes to enforcing the law. I've personally seen police not know the law. Other people have similar stories of this happening to them as well. This is crazy, these are crazy times we're living in. But, I have unshakable faith in God, and no one can stand in the way of that. Everything is going to work out regardless," Chance says.
